

Gmail Carbon Copy - Bug # 21: If message-id is empty, the mail isn't saved

Status:	Assigned	Priority:	Low
Author:	David Verhasselt	Category:
Created:	07/25/2009	Assigned to:	David Verhasselt
Updated:	07/26/2009	Due date:
Subject:	If message-id is empty, the mail isn't saved
Description:	Because gmailcc indexes the mails using the message-id, if the message-id is empty, which happens mostly because of malformed mails, gmailcc just ignores it (which we implemented to fix issue #20). Maybe we can try to use other data on this mail, like fetch the whole body and hash it, to index on.

History

07/26/2009 01:29 AM - David Verhasselt

- Subject changed from If message-id is empty, the mail isn't saved. to If message-id is empty, the mail isn't saved